

Instructions for Posters at CWEIST 2024

Instructions for Posters (presenters)

Our poster session is scheduled between 5:00pm-6:30pm on June 28 (Friday). The session has two parts – poster slam and poster demo.

Poster Slam is a rapid-fire succession of 3-minute pitches. The goal of the poster slam is to advertise your research. This is your chance to convince the audience to attend your poster display and talk with your research team during the poster demo.

Please use the attached PowerPoint template to prepare a cover slide plus one or two slides for the poster slam. Please send your slides to Prof. Chen Jin (via email at disjinc@nus.edu.sg) no later than midnight on June 26 (Wednesday). We will combine all slides into one deck by the order of poster presentations as listed in the CWEIST 2024 program.

Given the 3-min time limit, it is important to keep your slides succinct, clear, and informative. We recommend you focus on defining and motivating the problem and the most interesting results, and leaving out all technical details. It is important to practice your talk to make sure you can deliver your “sales pitch” within 2 minutes.

Poster Demo will immediately follow the poster slam. Please make sure that at least one author stands by your poster display during the poster demo to meet attendees interested in discussing your work further.

We will provide a 1.2 meters x 0.8 meters white board placed on an easel stand for your poster. You will attach your poster to the white board with tacks or tape in the portrait orientation.

Please set up your poster between 1:00pm-1:30pm on June 28 (Friday) at XXX Wutong Fliport Hotel (Conference Hotel). We will be there to help.

We look forward to receiving your slides and learning more about your papers at CWEIST!

Sincerely,
CWEIST 2024 Co-Chairs
